In the House of Commons on the 26th, Sir J.

In the House of Commons on the 26th, Sir J. Walsh asked Lord Palmerston whether the Government had received from the United States any formal Gemand for compensation to American subjects for losses sustained by the Alabama or any other Confederate cruiser alleged to have been equipped in British borts.

Lord Palmerston said correspondence had been going on for some time between the two Governments on the friest taken by the Alabama and other vessels of the lame kind. There had been received within the last few days further correspondence on the subject through lift. Adams, but there had not yet been time to reply to it. He might add that in that correspondence, in which each Government had stated its views of the case, the question had been discussed in the most friendly and amicable terms.

Mr. Barter asked Lord Palmerston whether, in looking at the changed aspect of sifiars in America, Her Majesty's Government eather separately or in conjunction with that of the United States, would consider the propriety of sending a squadron to the coast of Cuba to affectually terminate the slave trade.

Lord Falmerston said that 12 manths ago the Government invited the Government of the United States to participate in its measures on the West Coast of Africa, but difficulties arose on account of neutral and belligerent rights, whose could not be overcome—but in the present altered state of things Her Majesty's Africa, but difficulties arose on account of neutral and belligerent rights, which could not be overcome—but in the present altered state of things Her Majestys Government that renewed the application to the Government of the United States, stating that their ruisers employed in tast service would be received with every privilege and courtesy which belonged to a friendly nation, and that former difficulties no longer existed. No representation has been made as to cooperation by the Caba coast, but if they assented to cooperation that African coast he had no doubt they would also bordially cooperate on the coast of Cuba.

The London Times, in an editorial, trasts that there is bothing in the Alabama affair which need cause appresensions of rupture either now or at any future time. The American commercial marine has indeed suffered, but such a calamity must be expected when a maritime and trading State enters into a cortest with an energetic enemy. It is with a clear conscience that the Government which declined every invitation to interfere in the war, even by offers of mediation, new stands on its legal rights, and refuses to make any compensation where it has done no wrong. ensation where it has done no wrong. The London Daily News hopes that if President Johnson does not intend to give up the chain, he will soon pre-ker it, so that one way or the other the matter may be brought to a settlement. It adds. Lord Paimerston's er it, so that one way or the other the matter may be rought to a settlement. It adds. Lord Paimerston's reply last night was very unsatisfactory. It would have been very easy to say that a formal and official denand had been made by the United States Government in that it had not.

The News trusts that some member of Parliament rill insist upon knowing whether a definite demand has been made for indemnity, and whether any new denands have been made since President Johnson's accession to power, and it adds: "We have not the lighest doubt as to the hevitable reply."

The correspondence of The London Morning Post says hat the correspondence can lead to only one result.

Times, in another editorial on these claims, says that not a single precedent can be produced we believe for the allowance of a similar claim under similar cir-cumstances, and no rule of natural justice enjoins us to pay for mischief done by the Alabama.

The Times questions whether the American Government did their duty with adequate vigor against these privateers, and says that it was doubtless our part to prevent the Alabama and her consorts from putting to see, if due evidence of their wallike equipment conditions and her consorts from putting to be obtained. But whose part was it to capture after the obtained. But whose part was it to capture after they had given us the slip? As it was, the United trailed by the United to see passed by the Nonpariel at 2 valiable feet in blackading the enemy's coast, feaving us to guard every outlet of our own was best we could. Surely it would be somewhat reasonable as well as unitenable in law to hold law to hol

La France says that the French and English

La France says that the French and English Governments feel no disquiet. Both have observed toward the United States the policy of concellation. They have not ceased to receive from them the most moderate declarations and they have no reason to believe that any untoward events will occur to alter their friendly relations.

The Paris correspondent of The Times says that The Patrie very narrowly escaped a warning for having published alarming news about recruiting in the United States for Mexico, and says that the only correct fact in its previous statement is that Admiral Didelet is going out to relieve Admiral Bosse, and will not be charged with any exceptional mission whatever, and have no other powers than those held by his predeces.

The Paris Constitutionsel of the 26th says: "We learn that the Government of the United States has taken measures to repress any attempt to effect illegal collist ments, and put a stop to any proceedings undertaken with the object of preparing emigrant expeditions against Mexico in violation of Federal laws. Instructions to this effect have been forwarded from Washington to the United States Attorney at New York, who at once took the necessary measures for the prompt execution of the same.

The Emperor Napoleon will not return to Toulon until about the 10th of June. Ha has declined the invitation of the Queen of Spain to return via Spain.

Passing through Buttermilk Channel to Gowanus Bay we found the yachts lying at anchor and apparently awaiting with impatience the signal to start. This was not given until nearly 1 o'clock, the interval being used by Mr. W. E. James, Photographer of Fulton-st., Brooklyn, who was on hand with his epparatus and who succeeded we, believe, in getting some very fine stereoscopic views.

At 12:53, the signal being given, the schooners got under way, followed at 12:55 by the second class, and at 1:04 by the first-class sloops. The Mystic led the schooners on the start, and the Nonpariel had considerable advantage over the other boats of her class, but was charged by some with having got under way before the signal was given. The wind being light from the southward, the yachts beat down the Narrows, the steamer following at such an extremely respectful distance that it was very difficult to distinguish the yachts by the number affixed to their mainsails for that pur-
